In an effort to keep the Wade College community safe in light of the COVID-19 pandemic, we are collecting additional information from our students, employees, guests, and other college visitors. Our transparency is key to maintaining your trust, and during these unprecedented times, we are especially mindful of striking the right balance between ensuring the health and safety of our students, employees, guests, and other college visitors and respecting your privacy. Accordingly, effective as of June 1, 2020, the following privacy notice (the "Privacy Notice") shall apply in addition to our existing FERPA Policy, which will continue to otherwise govern our collection, use, and other processing of your information.

Please review this Privacy Notice periodically to ensure you are aware of any changes.

What Information We Are Collecting

We may collect certain information about your potential exposure to COVID-19 and health through periodic health declarations or questionnaires we ask you to complete. We may also collect measurements of your body temperature when you are at campus. We will not record or store your body temperature measurement, but if your body temperature registers higher than our permitted threshold for campus access, we reserve the right to record and indicate in our system that you were denied entrance and are not eligible to return for 3 days. In addition, we may collect information provided by you, or a public health authority, or other government agency, if you test positive for COVID-19, including information about how you interacted with Wade College during the time in which you may have been infected with COVID-19. All the foregoing is referred to in this Privacy Notice as "Screening Information".

We collect and use Screening Information to help provide a safe environment for our students, employees, guests, and other college visitors, and to administer your enrollment and access to our campus. We will use Screening Information in furtherance of those legitimate interests and educational purposes. We will not use your Screening Information for any marketing or promotional purposes.

How We May Share Screening Information

While we generally will not share your Screening Information without your consent, we reserve the right to disclose this information, and other related information, to government and regulatory authorities, such as the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and state and local health authorities, or as otherwise necessary or appropriate in furtherance of public health or safety. If we are notified that you tested positive for COVID-19 within 14 days after your last visit to campus, or if we otherwise determine that you may pose a risk to our community, we reserve the right to disclose to our students, employees, guests, and other college visitors that an individual who tested positive, or otherwise poses a risk to our community, was in our facilities and while we will not disclose your name unless legally required to do so, we may disclose information such as the date and time of your visit, your gender, and campus areas you used. We share this information to help ensure our campus remain safe for our students, employees, guests, and other college visitors. We may also share your Screening Information and other related information with service providers, advisors, or consultants who are performing services on our behalf and for other reasons in accordance with applicable laws, and we may disclose aggregated, de-identified information for any other lawful purpose.

As noted above, your body temperature measurement will not be stored unless required by applicable law, but we will retain your acknowledgement of the health declaration, as well as any records (if any) that you were denied entrance and not permitted to return for 3 days.
